

social innovation

Whether it is marijuana, opioid, mental health, or community safety, in essence, it is a spiritual issue. It involves not only politics but also ethics and religion.

To solve these problems, we cannot simply ask to go back to the past, nor can we ignore ethic issue . We must consider both the progress and principle, western value and eastern method, and respect multiculturalism.

Religion has a unique role in solving these social issues, and it is necessary to strengthen the function of religion.

For this reason, I propose the following solutions to marijuana, drugs, mental health and community safety issues:

First, urge the federal government to setup a special religious visa which is different from the skilled worker immigrant category. Let great masters, gurus, prominent priest, ministers, and other notable religious leaders can easily immigrate to Canada, let these spiritual treasures transform and purify this society.

Second, support the existing religious institutions, children's certain volunteer activities in religious practices can be counted to school volunteer hours.

Third, encourage the secular practice of religious study, and establish a good relationship between religious group and government, let religious groups get more involved in social activities.

Fourth, improve police's efficiency and service level, increase the detection rate.

Fifth, help new immigrants understand Canada's legal system and strengthen self-protection.

Sixth, Follow the principle of edification to solve social problems.

marijuana policy

There was a story in ancient china about three moves by Mencius' mother. Therefore, we should let children to stay away from the environment of marijuana.

The sale of cannabis food needs to be banned in order to protect children. Farmland is not allowed to grow marijuana, which is the respect for the community.

Planting marijuana at home is allowed, if you're a tenant, then planting must be approved by the landlord. If the dwelling is in an apartment, the building management can make their own policies.

If you only smoke marijuana, you must plant at least four flowers in the yard. If you plant four cannabis in your home, you must plant eight flowers in the yard. These flowers can make the community more beautiful, and planting flowers is also a compromise and respect for others.

Neighbours have the right to complain about marijuana odour, the basic principle of using marijuana is not to disturb other people's life.

On the other hand, the key of marijuana issue is education. If you cannot ban in the past, how can you ban after legalization? so simple ban will not be working, we must strengthen the tools of education, let schools, churches, and monasteries play the key role.
